Notice of determination on minor rules consultation procedure

AEMO has made a final determination to make minor or administrative changes to the Inter-Network Test Guidelines under the National Electricity Rules (NER) 5.7.7(k), in accordance with the minor rules consultation procedure under NER 8.9.4.

The final amended Inter-Network Test Guidelines is published with this notice in marked-up form, and will take effect on 31 August 2023.

The reason for making the amendments was to align the governance provisions of the guidelines with current practice, as it has developed in the course of recent and ongoing inter-network test planning and implementation processes.

The amendments were considered minor or administrative because they are limited to governance provisions, do not require any change to existing arrangements and do not affect the requirements or approach to inter-network tests.

In response to AEMO's notice of the minor amendments proposal published on 1 August 2023¹, AEMO received no comments. AEMO has made further minor clarifications for accuracy and consistency in describing the role of the Executive Joint Planning Committee. A mark-up of the changes between the draft and final has also been published on AEMO's website.
